Bird watching is a very interesting activity, involving the observation of all sorts of bird species in their natural habitat. Birding or bird watching, is all about watching these birds closely, so as to get a better understanding of their behaviour, as well as their physical characteristics. Binoculars and other optical instruments help take a closer look at these amazing creatures of the skies.

B) Рубрика

Birds live and breed on all the seven continents. There is even a bird colony in Antarctica. Of course, there are more kinds of birds in tropical areas than in the polar regions. Several families of birds have adapted to life both on the world's oceans and in them, with some species coming ashore only to breed and some penguins have been recorded diving up to 300 metres (980 ft) deep.

C) Рубрика

Birds have wings which are more or less developed depending on the species; the only known groups without wings are the extinct moa and elephant birds. Wings give birds the ability to fly, though, in fact, not all birds can fly. Feathers are one of the main features of birds. They can be in different colours and serve different functions. Birds also have legs, claws and a beak.

D) Рубрика

Scientists say that birds are modern feathered dinosaurs. Primitive bird-like dinosaurs have been found dating back to the mid-Jurassic period around 170 million years ago. DNA-based evidence suggests that such dinosaurs died around 66 million years ago, but birds survived because they migrated to other parts of the world. The closest living relatives of birds are crocodiles.

E) Рубрика

Birds have been a subject of art since prehistoric times, when they were represented in early cave paintings. Some birds were thought to be monsters, and people were sure they had some magic powers. There was a period in the human history when paintings of birds were very successful commercially in Europe and North America and high in demand at art galleries.
